NASHVILLE, TENN., March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Billy Sandow, manager of Ed (Strangler) Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, today deposited a check for $5,000 with the sporting editor of the Nashville Banner in connection with a challenge to Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, for a mixed match to be staged anywhere in the United States at a date to be selected later.

Strike Of Miners In South Africa Is Called Off

JOHANNESBURG, UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA, March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The strike of miners, which has held South Africa in its grip for more than two months, has been called off.

The decision was taken by the old South African industrial federation, a distinct from the federation's augmented executive. It announced, first, that the general strike was null and void; second, augmented executive would call off the mine strike; and third, that complicity in the rebellion against the government was repudiated by the federation.

There has been complete reconciliation. The police declare they have abundant evidence showing that a Red back plot was responsible for the revolution. The revolutionaries will be punished, they assert. Government official declares that the prisoners exceed 6,000 and that among them responsible revolutionaries will be dealt with. The railway men have resumed work.

GREEK WARSHIP SEIZES ITALIAN SHIP; HOLD TURKS

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The Greek torpedo boat Naxos, while patrolling the Black Sea with other units of the Greek fleet, seized the steamship Africa, flying the Italian flag, off Ineboli.

The Africa was taken to Moutania, where, after a three hours' search of the vessel, the Turkish passengers, including the personnel of a Turkish sanitary corps, were declared prisoners of war.

ROME, March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Considerable excitement has been caused here by the news that Greek warships had stopped and searched the Italian steamships Umbria and Abbazia, detaining the latter.

The press is urging the government to demand prompt satisfaction.

RAIL BOARD ORDERS PROBE OF ERIE'S SHOP AWARD

CHICAGO, March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Federal investigation of the Erie Railroad's action in leasing its shops and contracting all shop work to the Meadville Machinery Company, of Meadville, Pa., was ordered by the United States Railroad Labor Board today. The board authorized a member of its personnel to investigate "the aid and counsel" of the department of justice and to go over the property of the road in obtaining evidence first hand.

The Erie contract system came to the board's notice several months ago when shop employees brought action against the road in an endeavor to have the practice of subcontracting shop work declared illegal.

They declared that the work was contracted to the outside firms as a subterfuge to place the shop men outside the jurisdiction of the labor board.

The contracting firms, it was alleged, paid lower wages than the scale fixed by the board. The officers of the Meadville company were said in the board's announcement to be recent officers of the Erie railroad.

The former case will be reopened here and additional testimony will be taken. Ben W. Hooper, vice chairman, is mentioned as the probable investigating member to go over the road.

Adopted Daughter Of Old Farmer Author Of Antigone Ghost Says Scientist; County Folks Skeptical

HALIFAX, N. S., March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—While Dr. Walter Pringle, New York scientist and bayer of ghosts, is satisfied that entirely human, and not supernatural, agencies constituted the Antigone ghost, it was learned today that residents near Caledonia Mills, which is near the MacDonald home, were reluctant to accept his version that Mary Ellen MacDonald, 15, was at the root of the phenomenon.

Dr. Pringle, in a lengthy report, the fruit of a week's stay in the "haunted" house of Alex MacDonald, declared the adopted daughter of the old farmer was author of the supposedly supernatural fires and pranks among the livestock, which drove the family from the old homestead in the dead of winter. The ghostly slaps which Harold Whidden, reporter, and P. O. Carroll, provincial detective, claim to have received, were attributed to natural phenomena by Dr. Pringle.

Skeptics of Antigone county, are shaking their heads today, however, and placing their tongues in their cheeks. They are seemingly loath so easily to relinquish the importance that attached to their section of the country so long as the outside world was fascinated with tales of what they are wont to believe was a pranksy witch with designs on the MacDonalds. They characterize as absurd the scientist's nomination of Mary Ellen as combined author and cast of their "mystery" while in a "dream state" and victim of an

BONUS BILL RETURNED TO HOUSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The compromise soldiers' bonus bill, as finally revised, was reintroduced today in the house by Chairman Fordney, who submitted a majority report from the ways and means committee, claiming the advantages of the plan of the bill were:

- "First, no new taxation, no issuance of new securities is at present required.
- "Second, it provides for the veteran in need a method of obtaining aid.
- "Third, the amounts required each year after July 1, 1923, are small compared to those which have heretofore been met and can be provided without any difficulties of derangement of our financial situation.

Bombs On Ohio Shore Were Only Huge Firecrackers

STURTEVILLE, O., March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—On receipt of complaints from the Wheeling Steel Corporation that union sympathizers had fired one hundred or more shots of "bombs" from the Ohio shore at the Beach Bottom W. Va., plant recently opened non-union, Sheriff Edward Lucas, of Jefferson county, took half a dozen men to Rush Run, Ohio, opposite the plant last night to capture the gunmen.

After hearing several supposed shots, the officers rushed a crowd of men and boys on the river bank and discovered that their most dangerous weapons consisted of giant fire crackers, the explosion of which were mistaken at the West Virginia mill for gun shots. The ground was covered with remnants of fire crackers.

The men admitted they were trying to worry guards and workmen at the Beach Bottom plant. The sheriff ordered the "shooting" stopped, but made no arrests.

Riots Follow Sultan's Announcement Of Egypt Becoming Free State

CAIRO, EGYPT, March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—A riot issued by the Sultan Ahmed, Faud Pasha last night, announced that Egypt had become an independent and sovereign state and that the sultan will assume the title king of Egypt.

A Cairo dispatch to the London Times last week said the Sultan was expected to assume the title of king upon ratification by the British parliament of the decision to terminate the protectorate over Egypt. The new constitution with which Egypt will be provided, however, calls for renunciation by the sultan of some of his prerogatives. The British parliament has not yet passed an act lifting the protectorate.

LONDON, March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Cairo says the declaration of Egypt's independence was followed by several demonstrations in Cairo, the crowds smashing street lamps and uprooting trees. Egyptian cavalry was ordered out to restore order.

DAVIS CONFERS WITH HYNICKA; TO ANNOUNCE HIS PLANS SATURDAY

COLUMBUS, O., March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor Davis' forthcoming announcement Saturday as to whether he will be a candidate for reelection, was the talk of the state capital today, and the subject of a conference between the chief executive and Rudolph A. Hynicka, Republican leader, of Cincinnati.

Mr. Hynicka stopped off in Columbus to see the governor while en route from Washington to Cincinnati. They talked for some time, but no announcement followed their conference.

"They talked politics," was the only information available at the governor's office.

These friends of the governor insisted that he had not yet made up his mind whether to run again, but pointed out that he must reach a decision before Saturday, when he has announced he will make public his decision. Those close to the governor say that reactions from yesterday's publication of the survey of the state reorganization code will be instrumental in helping the governor make his decision.

The governor's political decision will be announced late Saturday for publication in Sunday morning newspapers, his office announced today.

BOAT "HELPER" VICTIM OF DRIFT NEAR "SOUTHERN" BRIDGE AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., March 16.—The towboat Helper, belonging to the fleet of the Campbells Creek Coal Company, of this city, early today turned turtle in the harbor here, crashed against the piers of the Southern railroad bridge and crashed into fragments. Captain E. A. Burnside, superintendent of transportation of the company, who was piloting the boat, was drowned. It is believed also that two others of the crew lost their lives. The remainder were rescued. The sinking of the boat was witnessed by passengers on a Baltimore and Ohio train. Government boats were sent to the scene from the Fernbank dam.

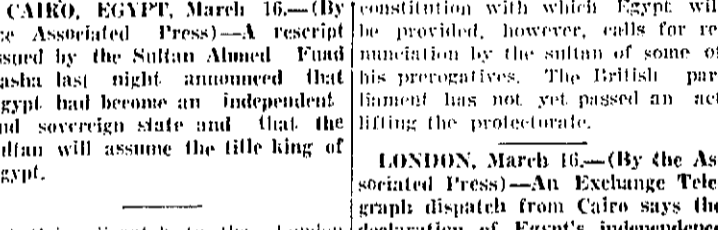

Mrs. Arthur Schlechter, Newport, Ky., cook on the boat, was drowned. She was the wife of the engineer on the vessel. The rescued members of the crew said that Captain Burnside and Mrs. Schlechter were the only ones drowned in the accident.

Passengers on the train said that the boilers of the boat blew up while under the surface of the river and that the resultant flash shot up through the water.

It is believed that the accident was caused by one of the paddles of the boat becoming wrecked by driftwood. With the boat unmanageable, the bow swung around and presented its broadside to the swift current. The vessel rolled over immediately.

The Helper was built at a cost of approximately $100,000.

The full membership of council was present at its regular meeting Wednesday night except Member Osborn, who was reported detained at his home on Ninth street in a struggle with an attack of grip. The session was rather short, lasting a little more than two hours, but considerable business was crowded in during the period.

The only incident which occurred to mar the usual routine was an eruption by Joe Diener, the fighting member from the First ward, who spiced up the proceedings with a fiery speech in defense of Donafidde in general when some reference was made to that section of the city and to the new members of council which raised his ire. His cutting remarks and witty sallies provoked loud after round of laughter from his colleagues and then the speaker became serious as he pointed to the neglect of the territory embraced by Donafidde, asserting that it was not so many years ago that the district west of Market street was regarded and treated by city officials as though it were a part of Kentucky. Mr. Diener's speech came during the debate on a resolution offered to authorize the service department to lease a strip of city property situated south of the flood wall, near Massie street, to the Vulcan Last company, for the purpose of erecting an addition to its present building there. On the recommendation of the public property committee the resolution was finally passed authorizing the leasing of the ground for a period of twenty-five years at $25 a year, although a majority of the members expressed opinion that the amount should be more.

A committee from the Portsmouth Branch of the Woman's Federation for Social Health appeared and presented a petition urging Council to provide a Detention and Welfare Home for women and juveniles. In support of the movement the local federation, which is composed of representative women from the women's clubs and church organizations, pointed out that such a home would do away with the disgrace of the city jail for women and delinquent girls who are arrested by police and unable them to be turned over to the detention home authorities where they would be placed under suitable environments. Urging the plan further the committee presented for the consideration of council an estimate of the cost of providing such a home and the maintenance thereof.

A bond issue of from $15,000 to $20,000 for the purpose of a home is proposed and it is suggested that three positions be created as follows: police woman, $1500; matron, $900; cook, $400. It is further proposed that the home be managed by a board of trustees, consisting of three women and two men, or four women and three men, to serve without pay and without authority under the supervision of the safety director and to be appointed by the mayor.

The petitioners also pointed out three locations as suitable for such an institution, together with prices showing the amount of money it will require to purchase either of the properties: The Ackerman home, 400 to Trail, $15,000; the Peoples home, 703 Second street, $20,000; the Barton home, Jackson street, $10,000.

The committee which presented the petition was composed of Mesdames Ethel C. Schwartz, Judith W. Lowry, Cornelia Treathart, D. A. Grimes and Laura C. Miller. The petition was referred to the committee on fire and markets.

Council was advised that the organizations in the list below have endorsed the Social Health movement and are strong supporters of the detention home idea.

Legislation providing for the paving of Jackson street and Front street was repealed and new measures were passed providing for these improvements. The new legislation is in accordance with a new law which limits the period of improvement bond issues to ten years instead of twenty years as under the old law. An ordinance was passed creating the position of clerk to the water works collector at a salary of $900 a year. It was explained this was not a new position at all but that it was necessary under the recent re-arrangement in that department in order to make the payment of salary legal. It was pointed out that a saving of $900 had been effected to the city in salaries through the recent changes in the water works collector and city treasurer's office as work which formerly cost $9,000, is now being done for $5,100.

The matter of accepting the plan of the Milldale addition was again made the subject of considerable discussion in respect to the road leading thereto and it was finally referred back to the solicitor and street committee and the petitioners. After hearing Engineer Wilhelm's description of the road and his assertion that it would be throwing too much good public money for private ends for the city to accept maintenance of the highway, which he declared was improperly located, four members opposed giving the matter any further consideration and voted to throw the petition overboard, the motion to refer it carrying by a majority of one which vote was cast by President Weghorst.

The report of the Board of Control carrying with it recommendation to employ Pierce, Greeley and Hansen, Chicago sanitary engineers, to prepare working plans for a complete sewer construction program in accordance with the recent sanitary sewer survey made by that firm, and giving first call to the building of Lawson Run sewer as the most urgent. Legislation was ordered brought in to provide the necessary funds for paying for the plans.

The sum of $485 was voted to pay for the laying of a new floor in the Little Scioto bridge at Sciotoville and $1,000 to pay the expense of operating the flood defense stations during the present emergency.

Member Diener in offering a resolution to authorize the sale of certain city property, took occasion to say that he had observed that the river was making serious inroads in the bank at the "Point" and warned that unless some precaution is taken to stop the bank from washing the city might have to buy more property there. The matter was referred to the street committee for investigation.

Member Kountz stated that the flooding of wagons along the flood wall on Front street by J. P. Capehart had been the subject of numerous complaints which had come to him and the proposition was referred to the solicitor for investigation.

Pimples, blackheads and boils—fresh yeast rids you of them

It is well known that pimples and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.

Fleischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful skin troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.

The surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "I have used yeast extensively and found it invaluable in curing boils." When 17 cases of pimples were treated with Fleischmann's Yeast at hospitals in New York, and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. A typical case was a young man who had suffered from pimples for three years. He ate three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily. In five weeks the eruption had cleared completely.

If you are troubled with pimples or boils, begin at once to correct them by eating for several days Fleischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals. Secure it at Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar, tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

MAY HALT PAVING PLANS

BRANTON, March 16.—The city's street paving program for this year, streets with an estimated cost of $180,000, bids for which were to be opened at noon today, received what may be a serious setback yesterday when it became known that the ordinance to issue $25,000 of bonds for payment of the city's portion, was illegal.

must be mentioned in any enumeration of the obstacles standing in the way of Europe's return to normalcy, but it is a separate chapter having no direct connection with my argument in respect to the Allied debts to U. S.

Flow of Trade Checked

(a) The barriers, interferences, "spite-fences" and chicaneries put in the path of free and natural trade and intercourse between the nations of Europe. With the disruption of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and its splitting up into several independent states, with the setting up of various sovereign states that formerly were part of the Russian Empire, and in other ways, not only have a dozen and more custom lines been created where but two were before, but the spirit and method of their functioning has been largely of crudely selfish narrowness and reciprocal ill will and suspicion.

(b) Failure to balance budgets, and deterioration of monetary standards by resort to the printing press.

(c) Disordered and fluctuating exchange rates.

(d) Maintenance of excessive standing armies, and a corresponding mental and moral attitude.

(e) Possibilities of Our Strong Position

What I suggest, then, is that, without entangling ourselves by any "covenant" association with the affairs of Europe, we should effectively use our material and moral influence to aid in removing the causes which stand in the way of her stabilization and normalization. One of the means at our disposal towards that end is the huge indebtedness to us on the part of European nations. Correlatively, there can be no doubt that if these nations were seriously to be called upon and were really to undertake to repay that indebtedness, their return to a state of fiscal and economic equilibrium, except in the case of Great Britain, would be indefinitely delayed, if not rendered impossible. And if we mean to advise in a friendly and informal way, as there seems reason to believe is the disposition of our Government, that that ceaselessly disturbing element, the matter of the reparations claim against Germany, be adjusted on lines which must mean concessions from what the Allied Governments, and especially those of France and Belgium, consider their rights, how can we escape the logic of a counter argument on the part of those nations: "If you wish us to abate our claims against Germany, what about your claims against us?"

I would utilize our monetary claims against the Allied nations—and I would, besides, utilize a portion of our over-redundant holdings of gold, and every other legitimate and consistent means at our disposal—to aid in bringing about that change of attitude and conditions in Europe which is indispensable if the world is to be again on an even keel, and which cannot be hoped for, at least in the early future, except with the moral and actual co-operation of America. I would cancel the Allied war debts to America (to the extent that they are war debts) not as a free gift, but in consideration of, and return for, adequate pledges and appropriate action on the part of the nations concerned, leading to the elimination, as far as actually possible, or at least the prompt and essential mitigation of the remediable circumstances and conditions which keep Europe in turmoil and prevent it from exercising its normal and natural functions either as consumer or producer. Subject to that consideration in each instance, I would cancel all the Allied war debts to us, regardless of the solvency of the nation concerned, and I would impose the stipulation that the war debts which the various Allied nations owe to themselves be likewise cancelled.

Generosity Will Be Productive

These loans are now frozen credits. As in most of them, it is more than doubtful whether they will ever "unfreeze." By the process I suggest they would be converted into a free-flying current. They would yield in that way, even from the strictly dollar and cent point of view, far more, I believe, than we could hope to realize by the attempt to collect either interest or principal. And we should have to our credit an act of unselfish generosity and constructive helpfulness. That such acts, even between nations, are apt to yield material dividends is demonstrated, to quote one instance, by the example of the advantage which our trade and general position in China derived from our action in returning it to Bayer indemnity.

I have previously referred to the Russian situation in a way which may lead you to think that I intend to dole this ungrateful and somewhat perilous issue. Such is not my intention.

Our Government, I feel sure, will not extend, and the vast majority of our people could not wish it to extend, formal recognition to the Soviet regime until either or both of two requirements will have been complied with: acceptance of that regime through a freely elected Constituent General Assembly of the Russian people and acceptance of certain fundamental principles of national and international conduct.

Got In Touch With Russian People

But while withholding recognition from the Soviet Government, we should, I believe, have nothing to get into contact with the Russian people. It is our duty as it is our self-interest to add that people to find the way out of their misery.

We should let the Trade Commissions come here freely and we should send American Trade Commissions to Russia.

Change In Attitude Of Many Foreign Questions, Together With "Audacious Kindliness" Needed To Bring Prosperity

(Special Dispatch to the Times)

NEW YORK, Mar. 15. (Times) — Kalm declared today in a speech before the Advertising Club of this city that an entire change in attitude on many foreign questions, together with the assumption of an "audacious kindness" in some of the European problems, was necessary in order that there might be a return of prosperity to this country.

Mr. Kalm's speech was in part as follows:

European Debts Justly Due

The principal subject to which I desire to refer, is that of the indebtedness of many European nations to the American Government.

These debts are justly due us. No apology is called for from us for claiming them as valid obligations. The contention that our loans to the Allies should be considered and treated simply as a contribution to the common expenses of the war, and therefore written off as part of our war costs, simultaneously with a similar writing off all around among the allied nations does not appear to me justifiable.

European Nations Compensated

Another point of differentiation between our situation and that of the Allies, and bearing upon the question of the justice of the identity of inter-allied war debts, is that each one of the Allied nations took material compensation from the vanquished.

America, on the other hand, asked nothing and received nothing of the material results of war. We are carrying the immense burden of our war expenditures without any compensating tangible return whatsoever.

While I am thus convinced that these debts are justly due us, I know of no way in which they can be collected without consequences ruinous to most of our debtors and highly damaging to ourselves.

Nevertheless, it would be quite and, indeed, not conducive to our best interests even if our European debtors if we were simply to relinquish these debts without further ado. Moreover, a certain portion of them do not represent war indebtedness, by any stretch of that term, but obligations incurred in the course of plain commercial transactions, such as the purchase of silver from our Government by the British Government.

Nations Are Interdependent

The young and experienced of the past two years has led to a recognition among the people of this country that the economic welfare of Europe is part of our own.

The world has become too small and interdependent, even though the nations are independent, that this general truth is as applicable to us as to any other.

Treaty Makers Blundered

What, then, are the main elements which stand in the way of the recognition of Europe? I believe the following to be the principal ones: One, The so-called peace treaties concluded at Versailles, St. Germain, Sevres and Trianon not only, between the Allied nations and Germany, but they are also a barrier to finding a pathway in the history of treaty making, to the humane, wise and beneficial, and unimpaired facts of these instruments, from the point of view of the victors, the vanquished and the world at large.

The most conspicuously troublesome of the many ills engendered by the peace treaties is the matter of the reparations to be exacted from Germany.

Reparation Situation Dangerous

I believe the great majority of competent and candid persons everywhere have reached the conclusion that the reparation sum, as fixed in the ultimatum of London last May, is not only greatly beyond Germany's capacity to pay by whatever means, but that insistence on that sum is causing grave damage to the Allied nations and, indeed, to all the world. Among other things, it would, of necessity, so depress the standard of living in Germany that the other nations would find themselves, on a vast scale, face to face with the same problem which is at the bottom of the misery of our own Pacific Coast States against Japanese immigration, i. e., competition based on a standard of living which is not, and ought not to be, acceptable and tolerable.

BANK CASE MAY GO TO JURY TONIGHT

(SPECIAL TO TIMES)

WAVERLY, O., March 16.—Witnesses for the State completed their testimony this morning, and those for the defense were heard this afternoon. They are chiefly character witnesses for the defendant. The jury is expected to receive the case this evening.

Among the witnesses who were called this morning were Waldo Russell, former cashier of the defunct bank and E. H. Craig.

WAVERLY, Mar. 16.—The second day of the trial of W. N. Ferguson, charged with issuing fraudulent certificates of deposit, began in Common Pleas court here Wednesday. Major Miller of the State Banking Commission was the first witness for the State.

He introduced records that he had secured in his investigation of the bank of Beaver, which were controlled by John and Waldo Russell, and was declared insolvent in the spring of 1921. Certificates of deposit in the bank of Beaver and endorsed by W. N. Ferguson, were introduced as evidence and placed on exhibit.

More important was the testimony of John Russell, who followed. Mr. Russell began his story back in 1919 when he was introduced to the defendant by David Armstrong, a banker of Jackson. At that time Ferguson and Armstrong were starting on a trip to Lafayette, Indiana, to investigate the property of the Lafayette Hydraulic Gravel Company, in which company Ferguson was interested.

Russell decided to accompany them and after an examination of the company he made a loan of $17,500 to Ferguson for the gravel company, for which he says he received a similar amount of stock as a bonus. Later, Russell testified, and in order to protect his original loan, he issued certificates of deposit to Ferguson, in exchange for Ferguson's note. This, he stated, was done many times, and in the event Ferguson was unable to pay the note when due, a new certificate would be issued, and the bank would receive in exchange, another note of Ferguson's. Russell stated further that when he finally disposed of the stock in the gravel company he realized a profit of $1,000. Upon cross examination the witness stated that his bank had issued $17,500 worth of certificates of deposit to Ferguson, all but $2,000 of which had been taken up by the defendant. When shown the certificate of deposit upon which the indictment is based, he identified it as a certificate from his bank but could not account for the fact that it was not endorsed by W. N. Ferguson, nor could he swear that it had ever been in the possession of the defendant. At one time during the examination of the witness, former Attorney General Timothy Hogan of the defense, while objecting to the witness being allowed to testify as to a conclusion he may have formed in regard to the certificate in question, stated that the defendant would deny emphatically ever having had possession of the certificate.

Following Russell came the testimony of Will R. Myers, cashier of a Canton bank, John H. Garrett, cashier of a Zanesville bank, and E. L. Sturgeon, cashier of an Alliance bank, all of whom testified to having purchased certificates of deposit from W. N. Ferguson in amounts around $2,000. These were later taken up by Ferguson and they were paid in first mortgage bonds of the Lafayette Hydraulic Gravel and Gravel company of Lafayette, Indiana.

This ended the testimony for the night session and court adjourned after a two hour night session which had been held in an effort to hurry the case along.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—Hearing that you can answer all questions, I would like a little information about the rain fall. I wish you would explain how you measure say an inch or two inches of rain fall? How to you measure for the amount of a heavy rain and a light rain? Also do you think there will be a flood?

INQUIRIST READER.
On every daily weather bulletin or on the amount of rainfall at various places during the preceding 24 hours is printed in the inches and hundredths of inches. In a general way the public understands that a rainfall of two inches in one day is heavy, and that one of a tenth of an inch is light, but no attempt is made to associate the linear measurement of the water with its outflow in a proper understanding of the actual quantitative value of the rain. For instance an acre of ground contains 6,250 square feet. Consequently a rainfall of 1 inch over an acre of ground would mean a total of 6,250 cubic feet of water. This is equivalent to 3,630 gallons. Therefore a rainfall of one inch of water on an acre of ground would amount to 27,143 gallons or 663 barrels of 45 gallons each. We won't have a flood now, we may later on.

Dear Dolly—Is it a law to search a man's place and if they don't find anything but empty whisky bottles and jugs and they are clean, can they call that bootlegging?

A BOOTLEGGING
It might not be bootlegging, but if you have a lot of empty bottles and jugs sitting around waiting to be filled up, it looks mighty suspicious. They say that a "smelling squad" will soon start out to "smell" their way over the city, so you had better watch your step or they'll find out what you've got those clean bottles and jugs for.

Dear Dolly—If a girl is just 16 and has completed two years of high school work, is there any law that can compel her to go to school?

WANT TO KNOW.
In case of a girl who has passed the age of 16 and the required grade she cannot be taken out of school and kept at home, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the superintendent of school that she is employed at home, and an age and schooling certificate has been issued to that effect. A girl of 16 is too young to work outside of her own home, and her parents are not gaining anything by keeping her at home, so she might as well be in school. A girl who has gone that far in school should make an effort to finish the remaining two years, or at least take a business course, while waiting until she is old enough to go to work.

Dear Dolly—I have been going with a boy for over a year and am crazy about him, and he seems to like me. Dolly, we are engaged to be married this month. Dolly, do you think we have been going together long enough to get married? I have had to work hard for my living. Dolly, do you think I have been going with him long enough to know whether I love him or not? What would be nice to be married in?

BRIDE-TO-BE.
If you are a sensible girl and old enough to get married, you ought to know whether or not you love him. You won't want to marry him. However, they do say that you never know a man until you live with him, or work with him. A spring suit, or a one piece dress and a cape would make a nice outfit to be married in, since it is to be a quiet affair, and you haven't much to spend for a trousseau.

Dear Miss Wise—Since you were kind enough to answer our last question, we will again ask your advice. Where is the gentleman wearing spectacles who boards the Hilltop car every night? He usually stands in front of the First National Bank Bldg., and just looks and looks at us when we pass by, but never gives us an opportunity to speak to him. Dolly, we fear he has left the city and this will upset our plans dreadfully. We consulted a fortune teller and she said one of us (the better looking) was to marry this man. Dolly, we are positive it was this man, for her description tallied exactly. The last we saw of him was last Friday and since we never missed a day seeing him in front of the bank until Saturday, we became very much worried. What kind of an office is he in on Galbraith street? He seems to have nothing to do but hold down the bricks. Now if you can not advise us, our future is ruined for we were positive we would get this man in our family.

THE AUBURN HAIRIED TWINS.
The grip long must have gotten him. He seemed to be tottering when I saw him trying to hold up the bank building Saturday.

Mabel K.—If you will inquire at their place of business on Second street, I think you will find the person wanted. If not they will tell you their address.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I won't go without you," declared the faithful Nancy

O H, oh," cried Nancy. "Pull hard, Nick. Pull as hard as you can."
"I did," answered Nick, giving another tug, "but it's no use. The harder I pull away the more the feather seems to hold me. I wish I'd listened to Tim Tim. He told me not to touch anything on the Electric Mountain."
It was true. The big magnet, shaped like a horseshoe, held the red feather (which was steel, as you know, being a pull out of the furious falcion) as though it were glued to it, and in turn, Nick's fingers were sticking as hard to the red feather. "You'll have to take the record, Nancy, and go on alone to the Land of the Diddyevers. I'll have to stay here."
"I won't go without you," declared faithful Nancy. And so for a while it looked as though the adventures of the Twins had come to a sudden end and they would spend the rest of their lives on the top of the Electric Mountain with the criss-cross wires spitting out electric sparks all about them.
But suddenly the feather dropped to the ground.
"Well, I declare!" said a soft-voiced voice. "I've lost my temper! The voice was so good-natured that the Twins were puzzled at the words. "Who are you?" called Nancy.
"Where are you?" cried Nick, happy at being free.
"I'm me and I'm here," answered the voice. "I'm the famous 'Horse Shoe of the Mountain,' Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, put me here a hundred years ago to prevent travelers from getting to the Palace of the Princess Therna. You see, being a magnet, I draw all metal things to me. Mostly nails out of people's shoes and pins and buttons. When their shoes and clothes fall to pieces they can't go on and have to return. And if anyone touches me he can't get go. You're lucky! You see, my power ran out today. That's what I mean by losing my temper."

How they act

The softening effects of olive oil are responsible for the lovely gloss and softness. It produces the mildest, most penetrating of bathers, which is given body and richness by the blending with palm oil.

This latter is far more than a surface cleanser. It enters every root and hair cell and purges them from dirt, oil and dandruff.

Yet this hair, which is so thoroughly cleansed, isn't dry, harsh or brittle. The soothing action of palm and olive oil keeps it soft and pliant.

PALMOLIVE
Shampoo

The Blend of Palm and Olive Oils

You must fight dandruff

Even the healthiest scalps secrete a moderate amount of dandruff, which doctors call seborrhea and charge with most hair troubles.

It is harmless enough if, when you shampoo, it is thoroughly washed away.

But ordinary shampooing doesn't affect the dry, oily scales which withstand most cleansing. They accumulate until the hair cells are clogged.

This clogging prevents proper nutrition and your hair begins to come out. This is the danger signal.

The softening, penetrating lather produced by the blending of palm and olive oils penetrates the formation of scales, loosening and dislodging them from hair roots and scalp.

You need never fear dandruff if you shampoo with Palmolive.

Rev. W. H. Gleiser Succeeds Rev. Boyd

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church at a well-attended meeting Wednesday evening voted unanimously to extend a call to Rev. William H. Gleiser, of Goshen, Ind., to become pastor of the church which was recently made vacant by the resignation of Rev. D. C. Boyd, who accepted a call to Kansas City. It was stated that the new pastor will probably be here in time to preside at the services on Easter Sunday as he indicated when he accepted a call to the local church, and it is believed he will lose no time in coming on to take up his work here.

Rev. Gleiser preached at the First church on his visit here during the absence of Rev. Boyd in Erie, Pa., and the splendid impression formed at that time by the members of the church resulted in the action last night. He is a comparatively young man and a fine pulpit orator and comes here with a fine record of successful church work in Goshen.

Rev. B. E. Cartwright of the Central Presbyterian church moderated at last night's meeting and Miss Mae Ricker was secretary.

Troubles Come In Bunches

M. Bertram, police judge of Vanceburg, Ky., has certainly had his share of sadness within the past twelve months, as will be seen from the following history of that period. About the time of the Christmas holidays a little more than a year ago, Charles Bertram, his son, died from a gun shot wound. This affair brought on a trial in the courts at considerable expense and trouble. About the same time of a little later his wife was taken to a hospital in Columbus where an operation removed a tumor from which she had been suffering for some time. At the time of the operation, it was discovered that she was also suffering from gall stones, which would have to be removed in a short time, but at the time it was thought best to defer this operation until she had gained strength for the ordeal. A few weeks ago, she seemed to have gained sufficient strength to undergo the delayed operation and she was taken to Lexington where the operation was performed and which appeared to be entirely successful. She was soon able to return to her home in Vanceburg and was rapidly gaining strength when she became a little over anxious about getting about the house and in operating a carpet sweeper she in some manner injured the wound made by the operation so that she had to be rushed to Hempstead hospital with all haste. She arrived there Wednesday and was again operated upon and the wound dressed. While her condition is very critical, it is not necessarily hopeless as was reported today.

Her husband, M. Bertram, and stepson, Dr. Herbert Bertram, are here looking after her welfare.

Troubled Waters At Allen Chapel Subside; Course For The Future Given By Pastor

Trouble in Allen Chapel A. M. E. church, Twelfth and Waller streets, which had led to various reports that the pastor, Rev. Norman W. Brown, was on the eve of leaving in his resignation, is thought to have been peacefully settled last night at a largely attended congregational meeting when almost every member present urged the minister to reconsider his intentions of resigning. By doing so, the congregation has expressed a willingness to have Rev. Brown lead them in the ways that he says before them, instead of various factions in the church working against each other, it was stated.

Rev. Brown consented to remain after a long talk, in which he explained in detail the plans he had made for the church and its organizations. The church was well filled at eight o'clock, the time set for the meeting to begin. It was noticed that a large number of non-members were present, and all who were not members were asked to withdraw as the matters to be discussed were of importance to the members only.

According to the members of the church who made talks following Rev. Brown, there had been a misunderstanding that had grown out of a division of the money, and the fires of discontent were fanned in a greater heat as matters went on without an ending. According to one member, things were going from bad to worse but that it was easy for the members to see their mistakes when they got together to talk things over.

John H. Jackson said that everything was straightened out at the meeting. According to him the trouble was mainly between the stewards and Trustees, and each had their following. Whenever any controversy arose each faction tried to place the blame upon the shoulders of the others. William Gordon, another member, said that there was merely a misunderstanding and that the wrongs were all ironed out when the pastor and his congregation got together to talk things over. John Evans said that the meeting was a good thing in that it settled the difficulties that had been troubling the church for some time. Rev. N. W. Brown gave out the following this morning relative to last night's meeting and it plainly and fully explains his position: To The Editor of The Times—If any one tells you that there is no factional strife in Allen A. M. E. church, it is not true as to facts, for factional strife and dissension are as evident as the hills, but in a meeting held last night at the church, when at least 90 per cent of the members were present, they pledged themselves to work in harmony and to one common end. When I came here last fall, every department of the church had felt the tremor of disorganization. The church had been virtually shot to pieces; trustees had been illegally appointed, unceremoniously removed, without the due process of church law, stewards and stewardests unaccounted, superintendents in and out without any legal procedure; Christian Endeavor functioning without proper order; choir disbanded; contention and strife on every hand. The system of book-keeping was deplorable, to say the least, and six months is too short a time to straighten out all the difficulties. My remaining here is based upon the following conditions: That the trustees keep an accurate record of the receipts and expenditures in a legible way; that they have a column for weekly receipts and a column for expenditures and that the amount that has been received from any source, for what purpose it has been appropriated, and the balance as the case may be, be properly listed and that the pastor and a member of the church be permitted to inspect the records at any time; that the auxiliary report books to the church all moneys raised and no bills are to be mailed or money paid out without the knowledge and consent of the pastor. The stewards are to keep their records, per diem, pay all their bills by check and be prepared to give any member or friend of the church at any time any information concerning the church. I am not going to play one group over against another, nor to play a party of any faction, neither will I fuss and quarrel to stay in Portsmouth. At best my task is a thankless one. Quite four thousand dollars must be raised this year on the home page debt, seven hundred dollars for Christian education, together with the monthly contingencies and to meet the annual conference which will meet here in September. Three dollars a week does not compensate for the worry and burden incident to the debt, strife and dissension that I have inherited, but I am willing to make any sacrifice that the people will follow my leadership and have a mind to work. And under a condition will anybody be allowed to circulate, or cause to be circulated, a petition for my return another year. (Signed) NORMAN W. BROWN.

Kissograph Measures The 'Kick' In All Grades Of Osculation

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—(By The Associated Press)—Kisses, some of them, kick up your blood pressure. So says J. V. Breitweiser, of the University of California's Department of Education. He has measured the "kick," Given one man and one woman who will kiss, Breitweiser told the San Francisco Advertising Club, he would measure the linear extent and millimeters of blood pressure resulting from: The mistletoe kiss. The stolen kiss. The expert kiss of the finished flirt. The soul kiss. Breitweiser said the instrument he used is so sensitive it will register the domestic kiss; the degree of frigidity in kisses one woman gives another she doesn't like and so forth throughout all grades of osculation. Breitweiser calls his instrument the kissograph. He gets a man and woman who will kiss; he attaches wires to them; then they kiss. The machine acts automatically. He also said there is no difficulty in obtaining couples to carry on the experiments. The instrument is an adaptation of the sphygmomanometer, which is a machine psychologists in criminology use to detect lies.

PARENT-TEACHER S ENJOY PLAY

The Parent-Teacher Association of Eleventh street school had one of the most interesting and profitable meetings of the year Wednesday afternoon.

There were about 30 present. The play "Our Friends, The Foods" given by the pupils of Seventh and Eighth grades under the supervision of Prof. E. M. Genery, was well rendered. It brought out very forcibly the necessity of giving children such pure foods as milk, eggs, fruit, meat, vegetables, etc., and the harmfulness of such things as tea, coffee, pickle, chewing gum, etc.

The Association was then favored with an address by Mrs. Gillfillan of the Child's Welfare Department of the Bureau of Community Service.

This address was especially appealing to the mothers and all were inspired by the many practical experiences related which showed just what even the husiest mothers might do for the homes. Mrs. Gillfillan especially emphasized the necessity of good literature for children, and of inculcating in them very early the highest principles of life.

The committee appointed to list children of kindergarten age reported that more than 30 had been secured.

It was decided to hold the April and May meetings of the Association in the evening instead of the afternoon that the fathers might attend. Cream and cake was then served and a pleasant social hour spent together.

Creola and cake was then served and a pleasant social hour spent together.

FIRE PREVENTION IS 'ENDORSED

The Woman's City Club, which is interested in Fire Prevention, issued the following statement Thursday: "The Clean Up Week" as outlined by the State Division Fire Marshall as a preventive of Home Hazards was received with unanimous approval at the regular meeting of the Executive Committee meeting of the Woman's City Club. Many tragic accidents have recently occurred in our community. Our local papers record almost daily the death of a child or aged person from burns, 97 per cent of which, according to state statistics, could have been prevented.

The request from H. A. Dykeman that the women's club co-operate in this fire prevention measure should be complied with by every organization in our city.

There was a good attendance again last night at the revival being held at the Terminal church. We were again favored with a solo by Miss Hannah Roder who sang "In The Garden." Miss Roder's assistance is greatly appreciated by all.

The subject last night was "The Supreme Sacrifice," from the text Isaiah 53:5-6. The preacher showed the wonderful beauty of Christ's character. He portrayed how he suffered for the needs and trials of the world and how his loving heart was broken for the sins of mankind. Jesus was a man of suffering. He was despised, rejected and persecuted. He was beaten, reviled, mocked and condemned, yet he suffered it all in silence. He was shamefully put to death, but he went to his cross with a prayer for his persecutors. Jesus, the our sinless man, died for the sins of mankind. He represents supreme love and sacrifice. His sacrifice was made for all who will accept it. Services tonight at 7:15. The subject will be "Three Steps to Salvation." Everybody welcome.

He portrayed how he suffered for the needs and trials of the world and how his loving heart was broken for the sins of mankind. Jesus was a man of suffering. He was despised, rejected and persecuted. He was beaten, reviled, mocked and condemned, yet he suffered it all in silence. He was shamefully put to death, but he went to his cross with a prayer for his persecutors. Jesus, the our sinless man, died for the sins of mankind. He represents supreme love and sacrifice. His sacrifice was made for all who will accept it. Services tonight at 7:15. The subject will be "Three Steps to Salvation." Everybody welcome.

SCOUT BASKET BALL RACE TIGHTENS

The RIDER OF GOLDEN BAR

by WILLIAM PATTERSON WHITE

© 1921 by Little Brown and Company

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BILLY WINGO, good-natured ranger-herd of Golden Bar, is elected sheriff of Crocker County by the gang of politicians and cattle thieves who believe that Wingo is too easy-going to interfere with their activities.

HAZEL WALTON, niece of an honest ranchowner, saves Billy from being shot from ambush by JACK MURRAY, disappointed candidate, but she is unable to make Billy resign from the office after members of the gang have threatened to kill Wingo if he fails to carry out their orders. Billy and Hazel quarrel.

he saw what he would have to do. And he didn't want to do it. It meant one more month to feel, and one more finger in the pie.

"You see, Bill, it's this way," said Tip. "Some years the party makes more than other years, and—"

"And the years it makes the most," insisted Bill. "are the years I make the most. Is that it?"

"But not the general idea," said Tip. "I got the general idea of what I got," persisted the strangely elusive sheriff. "What is the minimum I can expect?"

"From three to five thousand dollars," said Tip, watching his vis-vis closely.

Mr. Wingo paused and looked up at the ceiling. His lips moved, he muttered of figures and sums.

"I think between nine and ten thousand is nearer the correct amount for Bill," Billy said at last.

Billy made his position plain. "Say ten thousand in round numbers." Tip O'Gorman made an odd noise in his throat. But he dissuaded his famously murderous rage very well indeed.

"I never said ten thousand for a sheriff before," protested Tip. "There's nothing like establishing a precedent. Don't be hasty."

Tip O'Gorman raised his hands to the level of his ears. "I didn't think when I proposed you for sheriff," he remarked earnestly. "Oh, you bargained! I do admire a bargain. Yes, sir. But what can a fellow do? Ten thousand goes. About those deposits—I don't suppose you'll have any objections, now that you've got what you want, to appointing Johnson and Kennedy?"

"Oh, yes, indeed. I have—plenty. No Johnson and no Kennedy. Stillman and Tyler, yes."

"No. You've got to earn that ten thousand."

"Bribery and corruption, Tip, is a serious crime."

"Bosh! You listen to me, young fellow. We're buying you, body, soul and roll, with that ten thousand cases!"

"Tip, you're an old scoundrel!"

Tip O'Gorman stared with an odd expression at Billy Wingo. "You have changed," he remarked with conviction. "I wonder—"

He got up heavily and began to pull on his overcoat.

When he was gone, Billy Wingo crossed the room unobtrusively and barred the door.

"All right boys," he said in a conversational tone. "You can come out now."

The door of an inner room opened. Two men emerged. One was a long, lean citizen with a long, lean face, and a heavy grizzled mustache. The other was shorter, of equally lean build, and considerably younger. The older man was Shotgun Stillman, the younger was Riley Tyler.

In Riley's hand was a thin block of paper. A pencil stuck up behind his ear.

"Did you get it all?" queried Billy, sitting down in his chair and munching it close to the table.

"Most of it," Riley replied. "All the important part, especially where he tried to buy you up. Give you've got him now. Send him over the road any time."

It was the next day that Arthur Rafe, the district attorney, called on

Says Every Railroad Man Should Read This

Peterson's Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., Dear Sir: I was afflicted with what the doctors called varicose veins, and up until about five weeks ago I have been suffering from them about a year and five months.

With all the treatments that were prescribed to me by several doctors, I received little benefit, and they kept spreading and gave me much distress and caused me to quit my work.

I was induced by a brother-in-law to try Peterson's Ointment, and after I had used two boxes I saw wonderful results. You can tell suffering ones troubled with my painful and horrible veins that your ointment is a cure for them when everything else fails, as I have tried about every thing. Thanking you much, I am, very respectfully, Yours truly, Chas. J. Hayes, Battle Creek, Mich., 22 Glenwood Avenue, January 12, 1922.

I know and dozens of people write me," says Peterson of Buffalo. "That Peterson's Ointment also cures eczema, old sores, skin eruptions, piles, and skin diseases, and all druggists sell a big box for 25 cents. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement."

the new sheriff. He was a heavy-jawed, heavy-lidded, heavy-bellied individual, with black hair, close set eyes, and what was curiously an variance with these heavy jaws, a long and pointed nose.

"I hear you're appointed Stillman and Tyler deputies," Rafe said, curiously, "You've got to earned their appointments."

"Got to?"

"I must be getting' dem," drawled Billy. "Seems like I heard you say so."

"We can't have you upsetting our plans in any way, Wingo. I order you to immediately cancel the appointments of Stillman and Tyler and appoint instead Johnson and Kennedy. Do you understand?"

"Yes," said Billy in a weary voice. "I understand. I understand perfectly. You can go now."

"I'll go when I have your answer," Rafe said. "You're going now."

Even as he spoke he leaped with cat-like agility upon the district attorney where he sat in his chair and wrenched the right arm of that surprised gentleman around behind his back.

With his left hand Billy withdrew the bar from the staple opened the door, swung his right foot and kicked the district attorney out into a snowdrift. After him Billy tossed his coat and cap. Then he closed the door and shoved the bar into place.

"And that's that," said Billy Wingo.

CHAPTER VII. Y O U took your own time about evening," granted Rafe. Tack-

John. Dan Silke crossed his knees and stared at Rafe and Skinny Shindle. "Why hurry?"

"Because you should," nagged Rafe. "This Tom Walton has gone on being all fall."

"That's tough," sympathized Mr. Silke.

"It's worse than that. Tom ain't the only fell job I want you to attend to. There's the sheriff, Billy Wingo."

"That will be extra."

Rafe Tackleton considered a moment. "Five hundred dollars apiece for Tom and the sheriff," said he.

BILLY SWUNG HIS RIGHT FOOT AND KICKED THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY INTO A SNOWDRIFT.

"We'll bargain for 'em separately," said Silke. "One thousand for Tom, payable in advance."

"I suppose I'll have to do as you say," Rafe grumbled. "And the same amount for the sheriff."

"Not-a-tail," denied Silke. "Not-a-tail. Killing the sheriff for you means I gotta leave the county on the jump. Do you think I'm gonna run the risk of being lynched for a measly thousand dollars? If you do take another think. Take two of 'em! No, I'll take two thousand for your man."

"Oh, hell, it's all right!" Rafe cried, tossing up his hands. "Come around here tomorrow noon and get your money."

CHAPTER VIII. "T'S the women make half the trouble in the world," mused young Riley Tyler, who had received the million from his girl of the period, the restaurant waitress, and was a misogynist in consequence.

Riley moved listlessly to the front window and glanced at the time. "Oh, the devil," Riley groaned. "Here's work for it boys. As if there wasn't enough to do in summer."

Billy Wingo joined Riley at the window. "Looks like Simon Redfoot. I can see his long nose."

Simon Redfoot was not well thought of by the more decent portion of the community. Men that put money out at high interest and are careless of their neighbors' property usually aren't.

Redfoot rode up and tied his horse.

"You make me sick, you fellows. Talk! Talk! Talk! All right, I will see if you're able to do anything besides talk. Two of my cows have been shot and there's two or three strangers lurking in that old shack of Cayler's on Mule Creek."

"Suspicious don't count for much," said Billy. "You know that, Redfoot. Have you any evidence against these men?"

"Sure I have," was the reply. "The bodies of my two cows and a plain track of blood and manure within a mile of the cabin."

Billy nodded approvingly. "That's better. Shotgun and I will be with you in two minutes."

"I don't guess there's any tearing rush," he mumbled.

"A minute ago you were in a hot sweat to have us do something right away quick. And now you ain't. What has changed you, Mr. Redfoot? I ask to know."

"I want the job done right," was the lame explanation. "If you hustle off ten sudden you might forget something."

"What do you think we're liable to forget?" queried Billy.

"How do I know what? But I know it don't pay to go off half-cocked."

Simon Redfoot's eyes strayed to the window. When the eyes strayed back to meet those of Billy Wingo, the pucker of worry had been wiped from Redfoot's eyebrows.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON THE SMILE THAT WON'T COME OFF

Relative to "Pussyfoot" Johnson who will speak in Trinity M. E. church next Sunday morning and at a mass meeting in U. B. church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at Westerville, O., paper recently said:

There are men who are broader than their political party, bigger than their religious denomination, years ahead of their time and cosmopolitan in their citizenship. Of course you identify them as citizens of America, or Great Britain, or wherever it may be, as voters in certain political parties, as members of religious denominations and as living out a certain span of years according to the calendar.

But all this classification is merely for our mortal reckoning and convenience. THEY BELONG TO THE WORLD AND TO ALL TIME.

Such a man is William E. Johnson. He can be identified by race, nationality, church, family and fraternal affiliation, party preference and other marks of classification.

But he is the world's man and the servant of the present generation and of all the generations that are to follow. In all lands he is known. In very many of them he has labored. For all of them his heart's desire is that they may be delivered from the curse of strong drink, from error, unhappiness, poverty, crime and disease.

He has helped make America dry. He is now engaged in a great world-wide Prohibition effort.

Millions have heard him speak in widely separated climes. Many who have heard him have not agreed with him and others have scoffed. But all have pronounced him interesting, enthusiastic, fair-minded, optimistic, smiling, agreeable, friendly.

Excuse Of Ignorance

When we see other people doing wrong, we can explain it by saying that either they are ignorant of God's law and need teaching, or they know God's law and willfully disobey it. If people do bad actions out of ignorance, they are excused from sin because of their good faith and total ignorance. Good faith means that a man is honestly doing what he thinks right even though unknown to himself it is wrong. It is very rare that a man can plead good faith and total ignorance. Usually a person will suspect he is wrong. It is his duty to inquire for the truth. He must not only do the right which he knows, but also find out the right which he does not know. If a person did something bad thinking it to be good, he is not responsible for the past act, but he will be responsible in the future, if he does it again. God will not punish men as long as total ignorance remains. He only punishes men for doing wrong when they know it is wrong.

Best Show of Season At Sun Monday and Tuesday Minnie Burke and her Starland Girls gave a most pleasing show but the second bill offered for the first time yesterday is even better than the opening attraction. This second bill is "The Handicap," one of these Old Kentucky plays with the chief scene the race track and a neck and neck pace. A black face comedian in this attraction makes the biggest hit of all. Minnie Burke always pleases with her ten dancing. The black face comedian keeps you rolling with laughter. His stump speech is one of the biggest laugh bits of the season. He is hard to beat when it comes to dispensing mirth and chasing the blues. Don't fail to have him entertain you. The bill will be changed again Friday. The added feature, a Paramount feature play, is "Told in the Hills," with Robert Warwick as the star. Children's matinee Saturday.

Wide-Flung Raids On Stills In Florida; Gigantic Still Found

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The prohibition dragnet of 1000 deputies and citizens, who, in wide-flung raids Tuesday, discovered twenty-five stills and more than 800 barrels of mash in Duval county, missed the "grand daddy still" of them all, according to the sheriff's office. Deputies who covered the ground in the Cedar Springs vicinity again last night, found a copper still of 300 gallons capacity, forty barrels of mash and thirty gallons of moonshine liquor. The still was in operation when the officers surrounded it, but the moonshiners escaped.

Eastern Mills Lagging, But Are Gaining Ground; Outlook More Encouraging

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 16.—The Iron Trade Review today says: Diversity of tonnage is becoming more marked in iron and steel and is regarded hopefully. Steel bar business in the Chicago district is coming from so many sources that deliveries have fallen back despite heavier production which is expressed by the fact that the Gary plant has all its bar capacity engaged for the first time in a year. Sheet demand is expanding with some indications of a buying movement. Tonnage of size in full-finished sheets from the automobile industry, however, is conspicuously lacking. The plate bookings are considerably better than anticipated at this season. Both merchant pipe and wire tonnage is growing. Chicago remains the most active district with the Illinois Steel Co. running at 65 per cent. At Pittsburgh, the Carnegie Steel Co. is up to 90 per cent and the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. somewhat above that. Mahoning valley independent works are at 76 per cent of steel capacity this week. Eastern mills still are lagging but are gaining ground.
Two developments of particular interest in the situation have been the appearance of some contracting for future delivery by consumers principally of the manufacturing class and by increased buying by jobbers for stock purposes. Both reflect growing confidence in prices and in the trade outlook. Steel corporation mills continue to quote plates, shapes and bars unchanged at 1.40c Pittsburgh and some independent producers still will accept that figure. At the same time tonnage accepted this week under 1.40c and principally at 1.35c has been less. A larger number of smaller

Savings For State By Davis Reroganzation Plan Outlined

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 15.—The first definite and statistical record of what money savings have been accomplished under the reorganization of state government in Ohio, was made public today in a statement by Governor Harry L. Davis, based on a survey conducted by persons outside the state. The governor's statement says, "to guard against any possible political bias."
This report shows economies in Ohio operating expenses at the rate of $2,500,000 a year, during the first six months of the reorganization. Those who conducted the survey were George E. Frazer, formerly with the United States shipping board, and senior member of Frazer and Torbet, New York and Chicago certified accountants; Wilfred G. Sigerson, former statistician of Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, Montgomery Ward and Company and other firms; Major Frank A. Crocker, former statistician on personnel, U. S. quartermaster corps, and for 12 years chief statistician for the Wisconsin tax commission; and Walter F. Dodd, Chicago attorney and authority on state government procedure.
The survey also "to obtain a proper test of the effect of the reorganization, separates the eight departments affected by it, from the rest of the state government, such as elective offices, which the new plan does not cover."
"To begin with the report finds a decrease in payrolls in the eight reorganization departments, of $222,789.04, and a reduction in maintenance cost, of $1,419,258.42, during the last half of 1921, as compared with the last half of 1920—making a total operating saving of $1,772,047.46, from July 1, to December 1, last.
"All statistics used are on the basis of the official figures of the state auditor, and are wholly a comparison between costs during the last six months of the previous administration and the first six months under the reorganization.
"The report calls special attention, as indicating the influence of the reorganization system, that while the above reductions were being made, during the same period, payrolls in elective state offices and educational institutions unaffected by the new plan, increased $247,807.95, of which $162,557.12, was the 1922 salary of the general assembly; and maintenance costs in elective offices and miscellaneous offices not under the administrative code, rose $24,388.21.
"Counting on these comparative costs, Frazer and his associates express themselves as 'fully satisfied' that the first six months' operation of the administrative code checked the tendency to increase cost in the Ohio state government."
"The fact is pointed out that while the size of the payrolls decreased, the personnel increased. The actual number of employees actually were augmented by 53, this being attributed to the last year permitted them again to be properly named. On that point, the survey shows that the number of employees in the welfare department alone, which manages the institutional activities, increased by 48.
"The report shows a large increase, represented almost entirely in money applied to the extensive highway construction program carried out last year which resulted in practically the tripling of mileage of roads being built than in the year before. Of a total increase of $4,094,772.97, on account of additions and betterments, $2,705,454, was expended in the department of highways and public works on the new road work. The next largest increase was of $127,290.51 in the department of education.
"Frazer and his associates, referring to the maintenance costs in the eight administrative departments, conclude that the only increase shown, amounting to $290,030.64, in this department of highways and public works, is properly explained by the increased attention given to the repaving of roads throughout the state.
"They pay a particular tribute to the department of public welfare, which showed a maintenance cost decrease of $1,105,388.55, in the face of an increase in institutional population of 1911 persons, and the transfer to the department of additional duties.
"We gave particular attention to this figure as officially reported by the auditor of state," the report reads. "We are satisfied that the physical scores of the department have been maintained consistently, and that the increase of more than $1,000,000, is ment would be reached before April 1, resulting in the anthracite miners joining in the suspension of work.

The railroads continue the market's most consistent factor. One important new project to come up is an ore dock for the Great Northern at Superior, Wis., requiring about 12,000 tons. From 10,000 to 15,000 cars now are actively being figured.
Structural awards of the week total about 15,000 tons, with fully 27,000 tons in new work offered. A fair volume of buying in pig iron continues.
Buying of heavy smelting steel by stockholders has developed in various districts at 50 cents to $1 higher. A virtually unchanged position of The Iron Trade Review's composite market average 14 iron and steel products is shown this week. The average is $22.87 compared with $22.84 last week, $22.81 two weeks ago, and $27.93 for the month of March, 1913.
As it should properly be, representative of savings made by the department of public welfare, due in part to efficiency and economy of administration under the code, due in part to the valuable public service of the director and his assistants, and in part to the decreased cost of living.
"As bearing on the decrease in personal service, which is referred to as the more worthy of recognition, because of the definite tendency towards increased state salaries and wages for many years, the report cites previous administration estimate of personal services in activities now embraced in the eight reorganized departments, of $2,005,817.50, and the legislative appropriation thereof of $2,117,380.50, emphasizing the actual expenditure under the reorganization was cut to $1,857,872.02. This is a decrease under the Cox estimate of practically $1,500,000, and of $277,000, under the appropriated amount.

Count Coal Mine Strike Ballots

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Counting of the strike ballots cast by the union bituminous coal miners of the United States and Canada was begun today at the international headquarters here of the United Mine Workers of America. Union officials predicted the canvass would show a large majority in favor of a suspension of work on April 1, but announced that the vote would be made public only by percentage, a practice which will not show the exact numbers of votes cast for and against the walk-out. Mine Workers' leaders here finally have given up all hope of obtaining a settlement in the central competitive field, comprising western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and thus the vote automatically will bring about a walk-out, union officials said, explaining that a formal strike order would probably not be sent from headquarters here.
Although the conference on a wage scale for the Pennsylvania anthracite fields is being held in New York, officials here felt that the two sides would be so far apart that no settle

Landing At Foot Of Bend Street

The upper ferry landing at the foot of Union street was abandoned on account of high water this morning. During the present high stage the upper ferry will land at the foot of Bond street, where a good road leads to the ferry float through the flood wall.

Towpath Is Submerged

The Towpath, leading to the West Side from the city, was under two feet of water this afternoon. Traffic from the West Side is temporarily cut off as the road from the West Side to Lancaster is also inundated. This afternoon the Scioto river at Piquette was reported almost on a stand with a stage of 21.3, the rise being steady from Tuesday night until today noon. The river will be over the Prairie road between Piquette and Waverly until late tomorrow night or early Saturday morning. The road will not be passable probably until Saturday morning.

The Scioto was reported falling at Chillicothe Wednesday at midnight. Farmers in the lowlands or the Prairie north of Piquette were busy all day Wednesday moving stock to higher ground. Some farmers moved their families to Piquette and Waverly not caring to take a chance with the rising waters of the Scioto.
At Lanesville this afternoon the Scioto was still rising very slowly. The water was expected to be off the road between Lanesville and the West Side early Saturday morning.

CINCINNATI, O., Mar. 16.—The Ohio river at Cincinnati began falling early today with the stage at 8 o'clock at 51.1 feet. W. C. Devereaux, local government weather forecaster, said he expected the river to continue falling throughout the day and that all further danger of a flood had passed.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—Selling of the bill issues, which gave a sharp setback to yesterday's dealings, was resumed at the opening of today's stock market. Great Northern and Northern Pacific reacting one point each. Crucible Steel, another recent weak feature, fell one point and American Ice yielded moderately on profit taking. There were no early dealings in local utilities, despite the more unfavorable aspects of the traction situation. American Tobacco gained 1 1/2 on its very good annual report and Sumatra Tobacco also strengthened. Foreign oils and the metal group were firm.

The money market was distinctly favorable to constructive operations. Call loans went down from their opening rate of four per cent to 3 1/2. In many instances, however, early losses were extended. Great Northern and Northern Pacific reflected increased pressure with several of the motors and Crucible Steel. Directors of the Crucible company met after the close of today's market for dividend action. Oils and sugars were stronger, out of the prominent individual groups and Baldwin Locomotive, Iron Products and several other food specialties made appreciable gains. American Ice recovered the greater part of its 1 1/2 point decline, but changes among other favorites were moderate.

With few exceptions notably among rails, the trend of prices in today's very broad and active stock market moved almost steadily towards substantially higher levels. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

The closing was strong.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Mar. 16.—Although the wheat market here opened lower to day in sympathy with new declines at Liverpool, an uptick in prices soon took place. The advance resulted from a little speculative buying which disclosed that the amount of selling orders had dwindled to relatively small proportions. Talk was given to that despite reported weakness of British and France, the actual difference between Chicago and Liverpool values of late had widened instead of narrowed. The opening here, which varied from 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower, with May 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 and July 1 1/4 to 1 1/2, was followed by a rise to about yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to 1/2 lower, May 30 1/2 to 30 1/2, the corn market sagged a trifle more and then scored slight general gains.

The close was strong 2 to 3 1/2 net.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—Selling of the Hill issues, which gave a sharp setback to yesterday's declines, was resumed at the opening of today's stock market. Great Northern and Northern Pacific reacted after the close of yesterday's session. Another recent weak feature, fell one point and American Ice yielded moderately under profit taking. There were no early dealings in local utilities, despite the more unfavorable aspects of the traction situation. American Tobacco gained 1 1/2 on its very good annual report and Sumatra Tobacco also strengthened. Foreign oils and the metal group were firm.

The money market was distinctly favorable to constructive operations. Call loans seen fell from their opening rate of four per cent to 3 1/2. In many instances, however, early losses were extended. Great Northern and Northern Pacific reflected increased pressure with several of the motors and Crucible Steel. Directors of the Crucible company met after the close of today's market for dividend action. Oils and sugars were stronger of the prominent individual groups and Baldwin Locomotive, Iron Products and several other food

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, Mar. 16.—Although the wheat market here opened lower today in sympathy with new declines at Liverpool, an upturn in prices soon took place. The advance resulted from a little speculative buying which disclosed that the amount of selling orders had dwindled to relatively small proportions. Talk was current to the effect that despite reported weakness of British markets, the actual difference between Chicago and Liverpool values of late had widened instead of narrowed. The opening here, which varied from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, with May 1 1/2, was followed by a rise to above yesterday's finish. Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to 1/2 lower, May 30 1/2 to 30 1/2, the corn market showed a trifle more and then scored slight general gains. The close was strong 2 to 3 1/2 net.

Lifeless Body Found Hanging In Barn

Special To Times
JACKSON, O., March 16.—When Mrs. M. Steele went to open the barn door at her country home, a short distance from town, Wednesday, she was confronted with the body of a man hanging in the barn. It proved to be that of William Sarver, a tenant on the place. Mr. Steele had been ill for about three weeks with the flu and Mr. Sarver had been doing the feeding. Because they had not seen him come to do the feeding that morning Mrs. Steele went out to see if he was in the barn and found his lifeless body. The deceased was a single man, in middle life, and had been working for the Steele family for about five years. The burial will take place some time later in the week.

For the man who is particular about the appearance of his feet and wants style, foot comfort and shoe goodness combined the Eton should please him. Made of Black Vici Kid, Oak Tanned in and out sole with rubber heels. KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

WESTERN CONFERENCE DIRECTORS MAY TAKE DRASTIC ACTION AGAINST PROFESSIONALISM

Will Meet In Chicago To Take Up Important Matters

CHICAGO, March 16—Western conference athletic directors will meet here tonight and tomorrow to decide what action to take in connection with professionalism in college athletics and to transact routine business.

The meeting is looked upon as the most important in the history of the conference because of the recent revelations of professionalism in college athletics and to transact routine business.

What action the coaches will take is problematical. A symposium taken by the Associated Press shortly after the scandal over the Carlisle-10-Taylorville, Ill., football game in which 17 University of Illinois and Notre Dame university players took part, showed that most of the Big Ten coaches had decided ly different ideas about the cause of the professionalism menace, but that a majority felt that the present rules were strong enough if properly enforced.

The question of summer baseball is expected to be discussed at length. For some time there has been considerable agitation in the conference favoring abolition of the rule against summer ball, but several directors are known to be strongly in favor of it.

The athletic directors themselves have no authority to form rules for the conference, that power being delegated to the board of directors of the conference, but the coaches are expected to make recommendations to the board and possibly to pledge themselves to a campaign to keep all of their teams any players violating either the spirit or the letter of the conference regulations.

Michigan Reunion By Wireless

ANN ARBOR, March 16—University of Michigan Alumni Association are being advised by Fielding H. Yost, athletic director, that April 29 has been decided upon as "Michigan radio night." Coach Yost is completing the radio program by which it is planned to stage a sort of Michigan reunion by wireless.

The Michigan band will play The Victors, the Yellow and the Blue and other tunes familiar to former Wolverines. The Glee Club will be on hand and short addresses will be made by Yost, several athletic stars, members of the faculty and board of regents.

THORNON NEEDS MORE EXPERIENCE

CINCINNATI, March 16—Frank Thornon, who accompanied the Cincinnati National League team to Mineral Wells, at his own expense, to try for the pitching staff, has been advised by Manager Pat Moran to return to his home in Pittsburg, Thornon has worked very hard and has shown some class, dispatches said, but needs further experience to qualify him for a berth in the big league.

Undaunted by yesterday's 11 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Reds, the Dallas team cancelled an exhibition game, scheduled to be played on their home lot, to remain at the Wells for another try at the National League's this afternoon.

Return Games

Tomorrow night in the Wheelersburg high school gym the New Boston high school boys and girls will meet the W. H. S. five in a return match.

The New Boston boys' five will include second team players as Coach Stevens means to save his first team men for the big game Saturday night with South Point in the New Boston gym. The New Boston girls also winning from Sciotoville, last night, mean to clean up on Wheelersburg.

NEW YORK GIANTS EXERCISE AT LEAP FROG

LEAP-FROG is one of the favorite exercises in the southern training camps. The picture shows the New York Giants going through the stunt at their Martin, Texas, headquarters. The players line up and play leapfrog until the entire squad is exhausted. As a player leaps he stamps, drops out. When the squad is exhausted, so that only two remain, the game ends.

There is no better exercise to develop wind, and likewise it takes the winter kinks out of the muscles of the arms and legs. Incidentally, during the first few days it adds a lot of new kinks.

If you have your doubts about it, just try it.

Sciotoville Boys Win; Girls Lose

Sciotoville high school basketball boys closed their season last night when they played the New Boston boys in the New Boston gym. The Sciotoville boys have made another fine showing this season and the school is justly proud of the team that has only lost three times, and two of these games went to Portsmouth high school's fast quintet.

Last night the Sciotoville boys won a 29 to 9 game from the New Boston lads, who could not keep up with the speed set by the visitors. Coach Lowell Selby of S. H. S. did not use his regular lineup either. Stedman being out of the game at forward and Courtney out at guard. Kinker went in at forward and Winters at guard and they rounded out a team that held the New Boston quintet safe all the way through.

The first half of the boys' contest ended 17 to 4. With his boys maintaining a good lead, Coach Selby went in several subs the last half.

Combs, the main point getter for New Boston, was out of the game. The lineup and summary:

New Boston Sciotoville
H. Lewis RF Kinker
Stratton LF Powell
Combs C Edwards
Henson RG Brown
Ellison LG Winters

Subs—Bartlett for Ellison; Pich for Henson; S. Lewis for Combs; Combs for H. Lewis; Deemer for S. Lewis; Edwards for Edwards; Scott, forward; Reinhardt, guard.

Field goals—Stratton 2, Combs 1, Kinker 4, Powell 4, Edwards 1, Edwards 2.

Field goals—Powell 2, Kinker 1, Stratton 2.

The Sciotoville girls, with a couple of regulars out of the game, lost a 16 to 4 game to the New Boston girls. The New Boston girls have been playing a winning game for the last few weeks and now claim the title of southern Ohio champions has been well earned.

The lineup and summary:

N. B. H. S. S. H. S.
Dever RF Moore
Killer LF Kent
Fremont C Clark
Duffell RG Schoenberg
Duncan LG Wheeler

Subs—Wheeler and Henson for N. B. and Dever for Schoenberg.

It was straight ship and tuck between the United Brothers and Bankers, last night, right to the very last whistle. The Bankers won the first set 21-7. Erforth doing great service while Young and McNamara shot the ball low over the net. The U. B. won the second 21-11. Prosch and Reinhardt doing the heavy work. The third went to 20-20, both teams doing splendid work and fighting for every ball and point. Just at that critical moment, Brungs seceded a ball up right off the floor. Big Bowling Match Tonight

Having strengthened his team to fact they were in the absorption stakes. They gave the Masons something to worry about, winning the first game by a margin of 123 pins—a handicap that the F. & A. M. squad shouldered and finally overcame. Much interest has been manifested in the match for this evening and no doubt a large crowd will be present. The Higgins crew will bowl under the caption, "Play House Five" and the artists hope to even up the standing, which would, of necessity make a third match necessary. The Masons will line up as follows: Walter, Orr, Patton, Leach and Sheridan. Captain Higgins refuses to divulge his line up, but promises several surprises. The general public is invited to witness the deadly combat.

Sport Flashes From Training Camps

What will the harvest be from the crop of baseball recruits that is now blossoming in the south?

Major league club owners have invested thousands of dollars in promising young ball players in a hope that one or two will show enough merit to be classed as big leaguers.

Already it is apparent that some of the highly touted youngsters will not do. In a good many cases the numbers have just about decided what players really have a chance to make the grade.

The wedding out of the recruits in the spring is a big proposition. Sometimes some judgment is necessary to cut loose from some youngsters and later see the recruit come back with some other club and develop into a star.

Such a mistake is quite a slap at the managerial judgment of the leader who so says. For that reason the recruits who appear to have a chance are carefully nursed along, often the most promising are carried for a month or six weeks of the regular season before being slotted back to the minors.

While the recruit problem is the big issue there are others facing a number of major league managers. They deal with the veteran players, rather than the recruits, and the real yardstick is the chances of various clubs in 1922 than do the work of the recruits.

The addition of Roger Peckinpaugh to the Washington club has rounded out that team. The club has been greatly strengthened and is one week sped. However, for a club to be in the running it must get good pitching.

In a measure the Washington pitching staff hinges around Walter Johnson. Walter is, of course, the ace of the staff. The most go good for the club to get anywhere. If Walter is able to win 25 games, the Nationals must be reckoned with.

The success of Johnson is not an individual matter. It has a direct bearing of the greatest importance.

News From Toledo Tourney

TOLEDO, Mar. 16—The presence on the alleys of last year's individual champion, F. Smith, of Detroit, employed to some extent the interest in the American Bowling Congress tournament held today.

Chicago, Toledo, Jamestown, N. Y., and Pittsburgh bowlers occupy the alleys in the first round this morning. Richmond, Ill., Delphos, O., Gary, Ind., Oklahoma City, Okla., Jacksonville, Fla., and Ashland, N. J., bowlers were scheduled for the later shifts.

Yesterday and last night were characterized by the absence of scores sufficiently high to carry any of the competitors into commanding positions in any of the events. There was only one change during the entire day and night. That was when J. Sadowsky of Chicago, hit 691 for second place in the individual event. The standings:

WANTS OLD FASHIONED PARENTS

EVER hear of Jessie Binford? No? What ignorance, dear reader. Why, Jessie is one of our high salaried public officials over at Washington, being nothing more nor less than the Field Representative of The Inter-Departmental Social Hygiene Board of the United States government. Some name and Jessie is some observer too. She made a speech over at Chicago this week and it was a hum-dinger. "Baby vampires are having the wildest fling in the country's history," said Jessie. This seems to be an age of youth and parents are powerless. There is a freedom of relationship that is appalling, and most of the delinquents are under 20.

"What is to be done?" some one asked.

"The parents of this country must again gain control of their own children. Freedom of relationship between boys and girls must be curtailed. Supervision and chaperonage must return for it is high time to put the Baby Vamp in her place."

Bully for Jessie. We started out to jeer at her as a useless appendage upon a tax ridden public but we revised our opinion. She seems to have more horse-sense than the usual government job holder, and if the advice she handed out were followed more closely by parents there would be fewer cases of heart-break and anxiety such as followed the unfortunate episode aired in probate court Tuesday in which mere boys were the principals; nor again would there be, in properly chaperoned affairs such instances as an indignant young gentleman of 17 telling a friend that he would not dance with a certain girl because she was old-fashioned and refused to check her corset.

We wish Madame Jessie luck in her crusade. Maybe if she lives long enough she will be able to throw a monkey wrench into the wheels of this fast moving age.

PREACHERS AND ACTORS

R. E. W. Williams in Jackson Standard-Journal

DR. JOHN ROACH STRATON and William A. Brady have been slinging mud at each other's profession, but that gets neither nothing. Never blame a profession for what a professor does. Marriage is not to blame, because there are so many divorcees. All the blame attaches to the people. The church is not blamable because so many of its members do not live up to their professions.

As far as preachers and actors are concerned, is not every preacher an actor? Does he not wear a costume, does he not have a manner and a special tone of voice, does he not play a part in public that he is not able to sustain in private? When a preacher goes wrong, it is his personality that is at fault. He is not equal to his part.

The big difference is that an actor can not fall as far as a preacher. An actor's part may be a very bad one, and easily lived down to. But a preacher's part is always on a high plane, and if he falls, the fall is great and attracts much attention. It is very hard for a preacher to be as good as he pretends or tries to be, and if you will try it for a half day you will find out.

Sometimes a preacher's boy turns out wrong. That may be on account of his mother, but it may be also, because he knows two fathers, the preacher in public and the other fellow in private, and the two standards confuse the boy. Always sympathize with the preacher, for his part in life is a very hard one, if he be a good man.

We had supposed that old Doc Cook had gone back up to the North Pole, jumped overboard and pulled the pole after him until Dr. Raskin came along and discolored the interesting fact that the pole was still on the job while Cook was rustling around in the Texas oil fields. But what we cannot understand is why Cook does not use his discovery powers and turn up a few oil wells. That'll be more convincing to a cold, cruel, unfeeling and doubting world than anything else he can do.

A patron who has traveled quite a lot and knows whereof he speaks says Portsmouth should feel proud of the general progressiveness and high character of her furniture stores. "They have the goods to suit almost any taste or purse, and they are not surprised by stores of similar character anywhere. Portsmouth people should realize this fact and be correspondingly appreciative."

Secretary Adams, of the Ironton Chamber of Commerce, has a real job cut out for him now. He counted up his bridge cash Wednesday and found that he was $166,650 shy on the amount pledged. And thereupon Adams set up a loud, 48 point type yell for the delinquents to call at once at the Captain's office and settle. Which only goes to show that in every community there are a lot of people willing to achieve fame by subscribing to everything and paying for nothing.

Nothing is ever so bad, quite, that is mightn't be worse, even, and in forming his estimate of the future mothers of the race the member or graduate of the class between 41 and 46 should reflect that the girls who are now hugging around these idiotic-looking dolls, reliably reported to be called dolls, might have decided to take something else out instead, Ohio State Journal.

ABRAHAM'S TRIAL

WHEN Isaac was grown, God wished to try Abraham and told him to offer Isaac as a burnt offering. Abraham obeyed. So early in the morning, saddled his ass, took two young men and Isaac and the wood for the burnt offering and went to the place of which God had told him. He told the young men they need not go further; that he and Isaac would go to the mountain and worship. Isaac carried the wood for the burnt offering. Abraham took the fire in his hand and a knife and they went together.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 16.—About a year ago there appeared in all New York newspapers an advertisement which was captioned "My Last $1,000." Underneath it told a frank story of a young man who had produced a good play but had fallen afoul of rival producing managers and was about to be undone. The show lingered a few days and "flopped."

Today there stands at Seventh avenue and 49th street a modern new theatre built by this same young man—a theatre in which is now showing a successful play written and staged by him and a theatre which bears his name. And this young man is not 30 years of age.

Ladies and Gentlemen—Earl Carroll.

Carroll began life as a programme boy in a Pittsburgh theatre. When I first met him about 10 years ago he was living at old Rustanby's in 23rd street trying feverishly to "crash the gate" in "Tin Pan Alley" with popular songs.

He wrote a few hits and with this money retired from song writing to write plays. "So Long Teddy" and "Canary Cottage" made him a snug fortune and he produced "The Lady of the Lamp" and "Daddy Dumps" —two plays that ended in financial failure.

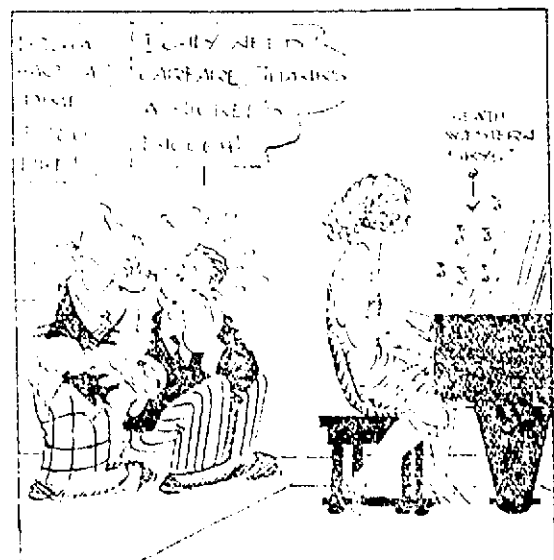

He will never be able to write a play, however, that furnishes the inspirational theme of his own career. He snatched victory from defeat—when most young men would have lost heart. Penniless and with a distinct financial failure to his credit he carried his boundless enthusiasm to a syndicate of noted men. They heard him, were impressed and furnished unlimited capital.

If so happened that I saw Carroll during those hectic days quite often. He was completely absorbed by his idea for a theatre of his own—he did not eat, he slept only an hour or so a night and he went about as one lost in a hopeless dream. But not once did his courage desert. He was always certain he would succeed.

He did. His theatre is perhaps the finest in New York. One of the features is a green room, a revived form of that old green room of the days of Garrick, decorated in jade and gold and made homelike with handsome etchings and commodious divans. It is to be a rendezvous for

Doors

A fashionable woman who collected her own rents in order to save expense found one of her tenants in an obviously discontented frame of mind and promptly decided to forestall complaints by making 4 one. She ended with: "And the kitchen, Mr. James is in a terrible condition."

"Yes, ma'am. It is," Mr. James agreed; "and you'd look the same way if you hadn't had any paint on your face for six years."

Her Own Chance

"Annie, my dear, I'm afraid I've acquired an unfortunate elderly relative, did you ever have a proposal?"

"Once, dear," the aunt replied, "A man asked me over the telephone to marry him but he had the wrong number."

No Danger

"My roommate tells me I talk in my sleep."

"What of it? You're not married."

—From Judge.

Poor Mother

My mother often tells of times when it was daily her delight—Unless it rained—to roam the woods. To try to find a prince or knight. The girls in books she read did that: "Twas wonderful the luck they had. Poor mother wore out lots of shoes. But—all she ever found was Dad!"

"Well, my boy, do you know what 'surtax' means?" asked the teacher.

"Yes sir," the duty upon liquor."—from Judge.

Night Rate

"How much is your nitrate of soda?" a customer asked the new drug clerk.

"I am not entirely certain," replied the clerk, "but I presume it's the same as the day rate."

What He Would Get

"If a farmer has four thousand bushels of wheat," said the teacher, "and sells them at sixty cents a bushel, what would he get?"

To which a pupil enthusiastically replied: "An automobile."
